

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING AMONG
THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, UNITED STATES FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE
AND NATIONAL PARK SERVICE,
NORTH CASCADES NATIONAL PARK SERVICE COMPLEX AND SNOHOMISH COUNTY

COOPERATIVE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENT
FOR THE NORTH CASCADES ECOSYSTEM
GRIZZLY BEAR RESTORATION PLAN

This Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is entered into jointly by the following parties: the United States Fish & Wildlife Service (FWS); National Park Service (NPS); and Snohomish County. The NPS, FWS, and Snohomish County are together referred to in this MOU as the Parties, and individually may be referred to as a Party.

The Parties understand and acknowledge that a number of steps that cooperating agencies typically participate in have already been completed (e.g., scoping, development of a range of alternatives, development and release of the draft Environmental Impact Statement (EIS)). Therefore, this MOU covers the remaining steps in the NEPA process about Snohomish County participation as a cooperating agency.

The purpose of this MOU is to outline how the FWS and NPS, as the joint Lead Agencies under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), will work with Snohomish County as a Cooperating Agency, during the steps of the NEPA process that remain to be completed for the North Cascades Ecosystem Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan and Environmental Impact Statement (plan/EIS). This MOU:

- Describes how the Parties will work together in compliance with all applicable laws, including the Endangered Species Act (ESA).
- Describes the general roles and responsibilities of each Party, as Joint Lead or Cooperating agency; and
- Provides a framework for cooperation and coordination between the Parties to successfully complete the NEPA process in a timely, efficient, and thorough manner.

ARTICLE I – BACKGROUND AND OBJECTIVES

Situated in the core of the North Cascades Ecosystem (NCE), North Cascades National Park Service Complex (NOCA) is a part of over 3.3 million contiguous acres of federally designated wilderness and designated roadless areas, and de facto wilderness in provincial parks along the international border in British Columbia, Canada. The NCE, as a whole (Washington and British Columbia), is isolated from grizzly bear populations elsewhere in the US and Canada.

Research indicates this wilderness landscape can support a self-sustaining grizzly bear population. Research also indicates the continued effects of climate change would not hinder, and may aid, a recovering population.

The FWS has determined the NCE no longer contains a population based on: (1) the amount of search effort without finding any evidence of grizzly bears or a confirmed population; (2) a limited number of grizzly bear detections in the NCE in the past few decades; and (3) the length of time since the last confirmed detection in the US, in 1996. Natural recovery in the NCE is challenged by the absence of verified reproduction, as well as isolation from any contiguous population in British Columbia, Canada, and the United States. A nationwide Grizzly Bear Recovery Plan was finalized by the FWS in 1982 and updated in 1993. The NCE recovery plan chapter was finalized in 1997.

The FWS and NPS are jointly preparing an EIS to determine how to restore grizzly bears in the NCE.

The mission of the FWS is to work with others to conserve, protect and enhance fish, wildlife, and plants and their habitats for the continuing benefit of the American people.

The NPS is responsible for conserving the scenery and the natural and historic objects and the wildlife therein and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations (54 U.S.C. § 100101).

Snohomish County is responsible under the Washington State Growth Management Act (GMA), Ch. 36.70A RCW, for coordinated planning within rural unincorporated areas of the county (excluding state and federally owned land), portions of which are encompassed within and/or adjacent to portions of the North Cascades Ecosystem (NCE) within which the proposed grizzly bear restoration plan is to be implemented. Planning considerations under the GMA for rural areas include retaining and advancing rural-based economies including tourism, maintaining and enhancing natural resource-based industries, retaining open space and enhancing recreational opportunities, increase access to natural resource lands and water, and develop parks and recreation facilities, together with ensuring adequate public facilities and services necessary to support rural communities including preservation of public safety. RCW 36.70A.020.

Snohomish County is a Cooperating Agency in this planning process and is recognized to have special expertise in the following areas relevant to the proposed action: social and economic conditions, recreation and tourism, county government services, and funding needs and sources as they relate to adjacent land uses within Snohomish County (excluding state and federally owned land) either encompassed within and/or adjacent to the boundaries of the North Cascades Ecosystem (NCE). The NPS and FWS recognize that Snohomish County has knowledge and expertise relative to social and economic aspects of the county and its subdivisions in providing long-term direction for community growth and development and in county planning, resources, economic growth and development, recreation, and other county matters which may be affected by the proposed action. Additionally, the NPS, FWS, and Snohomish County have obligations to the public in maintaining the quality of the human environment, regional economy, sustainability of local communities, public health, and regional resource base within Snohomish County.

9. Maintain the confidentiality of all documents and deliberations, prior to the public release by NPS and FWS of any NEPA document, including drafts, to the extent allowable by law. Snohomish County may disclose such materials to its officers and employees, provided such persons agree to keep the information confidential and not share or disclose the information unless required by law. Snohomish County acknowledges that all supporting materials and draft documents may become part of the administrative record and may be subject to the requirements of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and other Federal statutes. The Parties agree that the NPS and FWS retain the discretion to withhold under FOIA, and at their discretion may withhold from Snohomish County, those documents that would otherwise be available for public release under the Washington public records laws.

C. The Parties agree:

1. To participate in the planning process for the final EIS in good faith and make every effort to resolve areas of conflict. The agencies agree to fully explore issues before coming to conclusions, and to commit to searching for opportunities for resolution in order to contribute to an effective planning process.
2. Not to employ the services of any contractor having a potential conflict of interest, including a financial interest in the outcome of the NEPA document, in implementing the terms of this MOU, including providing expertise and analyses, as requested by the lead agencies, for the EIS, to the extent allowed by law. The Parties will take all reasonably necessary steps to ensure that no conflict of interest exists with any consultants, counsel, or representatives they may employ.
