Committee Recommendations

Committee Members:

David JH Wilson, PE, CFM Public Works/ Snohomish County

Scott Lane, French Slough Flood control district

Neil Wheeler, French Slough Flood control district

John Holdsworth, Emergency Management (invited did not participate)

Ryan Bartelheimer, PE Snohomish Conservation District Engineer (Invited did not participate)

The 2020 FDRP Committee meet on the County plaza, socially distanced on July 30, 2020

The two proposals were discussed and both proposals did seem like valid and eligible projects to all members, Chuck Hazelton proposed that the available funding be split 50% between both districts as the funding levels requested by both districts exceeded the funds available in 2020. No member dissented or disagreed with this proposal. After presenting the proposal to Public Works Management it was determined that this funding was not utilized in 2019, so the decision was made to fully fund both proposals less the required matching amount of 25%. So the county portion of funding for 2020 was increased from $ 100,000 to $ 135,450 by Public Works management as the road funding transferred in from engineering services to SWM over the 2019 and 2020 fiscal years amounts to $ 200,000 which has been un-spent through both of those calendar years.

Criteria of protecting county roads from flooding

David Wilson was able to schedule site visits of both sites with the project sponsors, the French Slough project included re-habilitation and enhancement of the lower Pilchuck River Levee downstream of the Pilchuck River trailer park, Sound Equipment, and the old State Route 2 bridge (92nd Street). The project if constructed as proposed would protect the county road system from flooding, particularly 92nd street a main connecting road between the post 1980's highway 2 alignment and the eastern edge of the City of Snohomish.

The Church Creek dredging as proposed by the Stillaguamish Flood control District, is a re-occurring project that happens every ten years or so. As sediments accumulate in the Church Creek alluvial fan that forms as the creek drains into the low gradient portions of the Stillaguamish River Floodplain. Cleaning and dredging of this stream positively impact flooding reduction effects of the river on Marine Drive by creating a higher capacity drainage course for flood flows to be maintained withing the existing stream channel footprint.

Consistency with existing flood planning documents

French Slough Levee system is part of the agriculture-oriented levee system that is covered in the 1989 Snohomish River Comprehensive Flood management plan adopted by the county council in 1990. Maintenance of this system is supported in this planning document and has been included in the 2005, 2010, 2015, and 2020 versions of the County Natural Hazards Mitigation plan. Additionally, Snohomish County worked with French Slough to complete a "Levee visual assessment" and the area proposed was identified as a deficiency in the levee at the time of the assessment completed by the county.

Snohomish County 2020 Flood Damage Reduction Program, stakeholder committee recommendations

Committee recommendation for award of funding:

District	Project	Project cost	County funds*	District Funding	USACE	Total Costs
French Slough	Lower Pilchuck levee rehabilitation	$ 100,600	$ 75,450	$ 25,150	$ 402,400	$ 503,000
Stillaguamish	Church Creek Dredging	$ 80,000	$ 60,000	$ 20,000	$ 0.00	$ 80,000

Note: 2020 funds were budgeted at $ 100,000, but due to unspent funding from 2019, $ 200,000 in county road fund is available for this eligible flood damage reduction activity so it was determined to fully fund both projects at a total cost of $ 180,600, and $ 135,450 in county cost share.*

Location of Project (attach Map): South end of Pilchuck Trailer Park property. Project starts just north of Paintball Field property and extends North for about 550 feet.

Scope of Project (Explain problem, project and benefits. Attach preliminary plans and photos.):

On the riverside of the levee, over time, the Pilchuck River has washed away the protective surface so as it is now, the levee provides very little protection in this area. Without completion of this project there is significant danger in the levee being breached.

On the landside of the levee in this area are many businesses, homes, farms with buildings and livestock, some county roads and many acres of farmland. If the levee breached at this location, there would be millions of dollars of damage to this area and also possible loss of life.

The project will be an Army Corp of Engineers project. They will get all necessary permits, do all the engineering, secure and repair the levee to their engineers specifications. The project will change the slope on riverside from being so steep, will widen the top of levee to about 14 feet and make the backslope more gradual than it is now. FSFCD will work with property owner to increase the easement from 35 feet to 75 feet of easement in this area. The plans show how the ACE have tied in the project to the existing levee both at upstream and downstream portion of the project.

Location of Project (attach Map): Church Creek at Confluence with Jorgenson Slough (site of the District's Jorgenson Slough Tidegate Replacement Project), Attachment 1, map.

Scope of Project (Explain problem, benefits and project. Attach preliminary plans and photos.):

Historically, Twin City Foods and many property owners within the District maintained drainage ditches and assisted the District in levee, sea dike and other flood mitigation facility maintenance. As older property owners retired and the Stillaguamish Tribe acquired properties within the District, the District assumed the work formerly done by property owners. The District substantially increased its budgets and assessments (from $68,281 in 2016 to $103,847 in 2020), but is not able to maintain current levels of protection of life and property and water quality without imposing an excessive burden on District residents, businesses and prime commercial ag land owners. This project is an example: Explosive infestation of reed canary grass, now over 6' tall (Attachment 2 photo), that was previously removed by affected property owners (now deceased or residing primarily out-of-state). The 6 to 7 acres of reed canary grass that will be removed choked the Jorgenson Slough/Church Creek channels and caused silt build up in an estimated 1,500' of channel that is to be removed to restore stream flows to achieve this project's over-arching goal: To make these stream segments fish friendly and to improve water quality.

Estimate of Project Cost: $80,000, including a $20,000 District match

Work to be performed by: District Commissioners, volunteers and contractor

Required Project Permits. Please list. Access permission from property owners for which the District does not yet have formal access, maintenance and construction easements.

Location of Project (attach Map): South end of Pilchuck Trailer Park property. Project starts just north of Paintball Field property and extends North for about 550 feet.

Scope of Project (Explain problem, project and benefits. Attach preliminary plans and photos.):

On the riverside of the levee, over time, the Pilchuck River has washed away the protective surface so as it is now, the levee provides very little protection in this area. Without completion of this project there is significant danger in the levee being breached.

On the landside of the levee in this area are many businesses, homes, farms with buildings and livestock, some county roads and many acres of farmland. If the levee breached at this location, there would be millions of dollars of damage to this area and also possible loss of life.

The project will be an Army Corp of Engineers project. They will get all necessary permits, do all the engineering, secure and repair the levee to their engineers specifications. The project will change the slope on riverside from being so steep, will widen the top of levee to about 14 feet and make the backslope more gradual than it is now. FSFCD will work with property owner to increase the easement from 35 feet to 75 feet of easement in this area. The plans show how the ACE have tied in the project to the existing levee both at upstream and downstream portion of the project.

Estimate of Project Cost: $503,000.00 Applicant Grant Match: $100,600.00

Work to be performed by: Contractor Other Army Corp of Engineers

Required Project Permits. Please list, or attach, documentation of exemptions. _____
